

Grey smiling in wake of referendum

Member of Parliament Deborah Grey was back in her home community last Thursday night to make the official presentation of a New Horizons grant to the Heinsburg Riverview Seniors, and told the group she is "glad to come home and see you people." At the end of the Referendum campaign, following weeks of travelling and speaking engagements, Ms Grey said she is "as tired as Brian Mulroney, but I was able to smile Monday night" as the votes were tallied. Beaver River had the third highest percentage of 'no' votes in Alberta.

The MP feels that "the Canadian political system is about to change. People are tired of the political process." She said the Referendum was "an interesting exercise in democracy. The government has been given a strong signal that they had better pay attention to something beside this constitutional fixation."

"It's important that people don't give up on the country," she said. "I have sensed a real feeling of despair out there."

When questioned about the possibility of a federal election, Ms Grey said she had "no idea" but predicted this could take place in the spring of 1993. "I will be running, whenever it is," she said, having already been named the Reform Party's candidate for Beaver River.

During her term as MP, Ms Grey has been able to help "an amazing lot of people," with the help of her very efficient office staff. She thanked the seniors for their encouragement, and asked that it continue in the future.

New Horizons In Heinsburg

Heinsburg Riverview Seniors are enjoying a new PA system, chairs and tables in their centre and a new sewing machine for their quilting projects, thanks to a $4345 grant received from the federal New Horizons Program. MP Deborah Grey (second from right) made the official presentation of the grant to the Riverview Seniors executive, Ron Jeffrey, Lyndell Womacks and Vernon Sharkey.

Referendum clarification

In the haste of getting the Review to press last week after the poll results of the Federal Referendum came in, our writer inadvertently reversed the number of votes for and against the Referendum.

Actual vote counts, as reported at that time, were as follows:

Elk Point: Yes - 218; No - 767;
Lindbergh: Yes - 36; No - 136;
Heinsburg: Yes - 26; No - 124;
Fishing Lake: Yes - 43; No - 88.

Our apologies for any confusion our earlier story may have caused.

New town council sworn in

Elk Point's newly Elected Mayor and Town Council were sworn in last Monday night, at the inaugural organizational meeting of their three year term. Municipal Administrator Curt Svendsen administered the oath of office to Mayor Ed Buck, while the Mayor, in turn, swore in new Councillors Betty Callbeck, Mae Hendrickson, Lawrence Pidluzny, Dan Povaschuk, Vern King and Bill Schuhmacher. Lawrence Pidluzny was elected Deputy Mayor for a one year term, and was sworn in to that position.

In his opening address to the new Council, Mayor Buck urged the members to set aside personal and political differences to work together for the good of the Town. He asked that decisions on Town matters be made in Council after discussion, and told the members that "we don't have to change our own opinions, but we must abide by the decisions made as a Council." He wished all members a productive and enjoyable three years.

Council meetings will continue to be held on the second and fourth Mondays of the month, beginning at 7 p.m. Honorariums and travel allowances will also be left at the current rate. Municipal signing authority was changed to either the mayor or deputy mayor and either the municipal administrator or office manager.

Committee structures were outlined and appointments made as follows:

Finance / Administration Committee: Mayor Ed Buck, Councillors Betty Callbeck and Lawrence Pidluzny;

Utilities Committee: Councillors Vern King, Dan Povaschuk, Bill Schuhmacher;

Development Committee: Councillors Vern King, Bill Schuhmacher, Lawrence Pidluzny. One member of this committee is to act as liason with the Chamber of Commerce, and one member to represent the Town in regards to Economic Development. (Continued on Page 2)

Silver for Nielsen

Elk Point's Erica Nielsen finished second at the PeeWee Girls' Alberta Cross-country championships Sunday in Red Deer.

Nielsen completed the 1,600-metre course in a time of 7:10.

Nichole Marvin of Leduc won the race in a time of approximately 7:02.

North Eastern Alberta Track Club coach Reg Green said the course was extremely difficult with several steep hills.

The 11-year-old Nielsen ran in the 400 and 800 metres and also competed in the long jump during the outdoor season for NEAT.

Warm Remembrance Day Forecast

For the first time in many years, it appears that Elk Point residents will not have to shiver their way through the minutes of silence that mark Remembrance Day.

This year, the observances are being moved indoors at the new Seniors Recreation Centre. A replica of the cen-taph is now in the making, and the parade will form up in the building and march past a reviewing stand on the stage prior to the wreath laying ceremony. Parade formation will be at 10:50 a.m., November 11. The ceremony will be followed by a non-denominational worship service and coffee.

Organizations, businesses and individuals wishing to lay a wreath are asked to purchase these or make a contribution toward them, by contacting Royal Canadian Legion representatives Helen Moneta at 724-2376 or Doug McPherson at 724-3866.

Million Dollar Insurance Agents

Town council sworn in

Public Safety Committee: Councillors Betty Callbeck, Mae Hendrickson, Dan Povaschuk. This committee is also to deal with environmental matters.

Appointments from Council to legal bodies are as follows:

Community Services Board: Councillors Betty Callbeck, Lawrence Pidluzny;

Court of Revision: Councillors Mae Hendrickson, Vern

King, Bill Schuhmacher; Development Appeal Board: Mayor Ed Buck, Councillors Betty Callbeck, Dan Povaschuk;

M.D. of St. Paul Seniors Foundation Board: Mayor Ed Buck, Councillor Lawrence Pidluzny;

Municipal Airport Commission: Councillors Mae Hendrickson, Dan Povaschuk;

Municipal Library Board:

Councillor Betty Callbeck; Municipal Planning Commission: Councillors Mae Hendrickson, Vern King, Bill Schuhmacher.

Council liaison to societies and associations will be:

Community Cultural Centre Building Society: Councillor Lawrence Pidluzny;

Elk Point Further Education Council: Vern King;

Fort George - Buckingham House Historic Site Advisory Board: Councillor Dan Povaschuk;

Northern Lights Library System Board: Councillor Betty Callbeck;

St. Paul - Smoky Lake Community Futures Association: Councillor Lawrence Pidluzny.

Councillor Mae Hendrickson and Administrator Curt Svendsen will attend a workshop in Grand Centre regarding the new Property Assessment Act and the Municipal Government Act, while Councillor Vern King and Svendsen will attend an Economic and Development Seminar in Two Hills. Councillors were also invited to attend the Alberta Urban Municipalities Association convention in Edmonton. Elk Point has withdrawn its plans to be part of the community showcase at that convention.

New Councillors will be given an opportunity to tour Town facilities such as the water treatment plant, sewer lift station, etc. in the near future.

From the hack

The ice is just about in, and I hope all of you have located your shoes, brooms and sliders.

Registration night went over very well, and saw approximately 60 curlers sign up for various leagues. This is a great increase over last year, BUT we still have room for many more. Please don't worry if you don't have a full team, or if you are inexperienced. We have qualified skips who need more people on their teams. We also have couples who need other people on their teams. If you are interested, please contact Dave Yake at 724-4200.

The Curling Club would like to take this opportunity to publicly recognize the contribution of Amoco Canada for the donation of some materials we desperately needed to get the ice in, and to B & R Eckels for the provision of welding services. If it wasn't for the quick response of these two companies, we would have been delayed for several weeks.

As it now looks, League curling will start up on Tuesday, November 10 with this being the first Mixed night. Men's night will follow on Wednesday, November 11. We do not yet have enough teams for a Ladies' night, and may have to place the registered Ladies in the Mixed league. Your skip will be contacted by the drawmaster as to the exact times.

Our next Bingo will be on Thursday, November 5 at 5 p.m. at the Club Bingo in St. Paul. This is our last Bingo until next summer, and we would appreciate all the help we can get. You will be getting a call over the next few days, so please keep it in mind.

That's it for now. See you...in the Hack!

Jr. A hockey coming Nov. 22

The Elk Point Thunder Midgets in association with Elk Point Minor Hockey and the Bonnyville Junior "A" Pontiacs have worked out an agreement that will see a fast paced and exciting brand of hockey come to Elk Point on Sunday, November 22 at 3 p.m. in the A.G. Ross Arena. This regular season scheduled game will feature the Bonnyville Pontiacs playing host to the Calgary Royals. These two teams will also be doing battle the night before in Bonnyville so it has the makings of a highly entertaining game.

This game will provide the opportunity for our local minor hockey players and coaches, the people of Elk Point and surrounding area to come out and watch some outstanding hockey right in our own backyard.

In order to avoid congestion and lineups at the door, ADULT ADVANCE TICKETS are available and may be picked up at Jorvik Machine Tool and Welding, 4609-51 Ave. Advance ticket holders will be admitted at the new southeast entrance to the arena, and game day admittance at the northeast entrance. A limited number of tickets will be offered, because season ticket holders have to be accommodated.

For more information call Ron Dunlop, 724-3081 evenings, Doug Flett, 724-2669, Karen Stafford, 724-4020.

COMMUNITY SERVICES NEWS

Do you think that your neighbors' fighting is none of your business? Do you think that it is only a private matter that has nothing to do with you? Wrong! Family violence affects us all. It affects those directly involved, in hurtful and long-lasting ways. It even affects those who are not involved, in a number of indirect ways that are both harmful and costly.

Family violence affects our children and the quality of their education. Troubled children, hurt by abuse in their homes, act out their hurt with their classmates. They often require a great deal of their teachers' time and their schools' other resources to cope with their learning and behavior problems.

Employees or co-workers may be suffering the effects of some kind of family violence. It may make them difficult to work with, non-productive and, in some job situations, even dangerous because of their preoccupation with their troubles.

In an indirect way, family violence makes communities less safe. A significant amount of criminal behavior can be linked to perpetrators' abusive childhoods. In some cities, about 90 percent of adolescents who run away from home, do so because of abuse. A recent study of inmates in a maximum security prison in Prince Albert, Saskatchewan, showed that approximately 70 percent had run away from home as teenagers. Many had become involved in criminal activities to survive.

The monetary costs that can be attributed to family violence are astronomical. Each year millions of taxpayers' dollars are spent on services because of the violence which occurs in families. At a minimum, these costs include social services, health care, and the response by law enforcement and the courts.

The costs of social services include investigating and responding to all cases of child abuse reported to the authorities and providing emergency shelter for battered women and their children.

A substantial portion of health care costs can also be related to family abuse. For example, victims require emergency medical services, psychological counselling and, at times, substance abuse treatment if they become addicted as a result of trying to numb the pain caused by being abused.

The expense of the justice system is incalculable. There is the cost of police services, courts and correctional institutions directly related to investigating, charging, prosecuting and punishing perpetrators who abuse. In addition, there are secondary costs to these areas in response to offenses committed by former victims who are displaying their hurt, anger and confusion through criminal behavior.

Family violence is everybody's business

These are only some of the monetary costs that taxpayers are bearing for this insidious problem in our society. Other costs, not so easy to identify, are the loss in productivity in personal and professional lives, and the immeasurable amount of lost creativity that diminishes the whole community's quality of life.

November is Family Violence Prevention Month. Drop by Community Services and see our display and free publications.

BENEFITS OF WALKING

Any birdwatcher, stargazer or snowshoe enthusiast knows the inherent pleasures of walking. But walking is more than an enjoyable mode of transportation. It can also improve your fitness, health and mental well-being.

- Walking refreshes the mind, reduces fatigue and increases energy.

- More than half the body's muscles are designed for walking; it is a natural movement that is virtually injury-free.

Walking provides an enjoyable time for sharing and socializing with friends or family.

- Regular, brisk walking can reduce elevated blood fats or blood pressure and improve digestion and elimination.

- Walking strengthens bones and helps prevent or control osteoporosis (a condition where bones become brittle and fragile).

- Walking relieves stress and tension.

- Regular walking increases the number of calories you expend and helps you feel good about your body. When combined with healthy eating, walking will help you maintain a healthy weight and positive body image.

- Brisk walking is an aerobic activity. It increases the body's demand for oxygen and trains your heart, lungs and muscles to work more efficiently.

See next week's column on Planning Your Walking Program.

Editorial

80 years - or only yesterday

Trying to turn my mind away from the politics of recent weeks, and to late to write again of Halloween (which I've delved into before), I was browsing through my shelves, and came to this little black book. It is shabby with use and age, corners chipped off, and the faintly lined inner pages grey with time. Most of the entries were written with indelible pencil, so here and there, as the writer, perhaps, pondered, and licked the pencil, there are very dark letters, which fade away to almost invisible.

I've had it a long time, not entirely sure how or when I came to possess it, but believe it was with a box of old books and magazines he gave me, years and years ago. This little black book was my Grandfather's, John Hobden.

The first entry is his address of the time, in pen, in Grandfather's sharp, distinctive hand: Mr. John Hobden, 129 Stewart St., Peterboro, Ont., no date there.

Over page, he has written:

Oct. 27th - 1912. (So I know that from the first entry to this, he has travelled across the wide open spaces of Canada, arriving at what we know as Elk Point now; he has been commissioned to travel through the area, as a Missionary, to bring the word of God to the settlers, in whatever place he can gather a few together, in homes, schools, whatever. He has left behind, in Ontario, his wife and eight children; he will carry out his duties to the sponsoring church, at the same time, file on a homestead, clear what he must and build a home and ready it for his family when they will come to join him.

These things I know, from family history. Still, it is with interest I read on.

He has written: "First Sunday at Vegreville." Below, across the page, he has the date, place of Service, Time, Weather, number in the congregation and amount of collection. I know he was paid a small amount by the church he represented. He has jotted: "Service," then:

"Nov. 3rd, Therien School House - 11 a.m., Snowing, 8, 0/

Nov. 3rd, Flat Lake School House - 3 p.m., Fine, 20, $1.80

Nov. 10th, Caskeyville (disappointed)

Nov. 10th, Elk Point, funeral service, Fine.0

Nov. 17th, Frog Lake Bristol House, 1 p.m., Fine - 17, $170

Nov. 17th, Moose School House, 7 p.m., Fine - 9, 15 cents."

At the bottom of the page he has added the amounts, and written: "1 day's rest in one month." In that he traveled these bush trails, over very rugged terrain, on horseback, in all weather, staying at settlers' homes, whoever would have him, although I think he was welcomed, they didn't always have room for an extra man, so perhaps he often slept in a barn, or on the floor, in his bedroll. Probably many floors were still of the beaten earth type.

He continues on: On December 1st, he was at Caskeyville School House at 11 a.m., and in the Elk Point School House at 3 p.m., weather listed as "cold" and a notation of "28 below zero." A total of 27 persons attended his services that day, his collection $2.10. And I think he earned every cent. Can you imagine riding horseback over these vast distances, in 28 degrees below Fahrenheit, no roads ploughed, perhaps a few team tracks only to open the way?

Alberta Trails

By Irene Magnusson

John Hobden carried on his ministrations throughout that winter, to these far-flung places (he also mentions St. Edward) and as the winter goes toward March, the word "sick" shows up several times.

Under Feb. 1st, 1913, he wrote: "3 weeks board at 5 dollars per week, 15 dollars total paid." We don't know who he paid it to.

Below this: "North west quarter of 16, Township 57, Range 7." "4th" was written below this, but crossed out; perhaps he was in doubt, if this was the correct Range. On my County map, NW16-57-7-W4 kitycorners my land, off to the northeast, and of course is where my grandfather staked his homestead, built his house and brought his family. My mother, 19, (his eldest daughter Kate) along with her brother Bert, 15, were the first to arrive, in the spring of 1913, living in a tent, while they cut and peeled logs, drove fence posts, cut brush, made a corduroy across the (then) little lake to their north, and somehow were able to have a home ready, a roof over the heads of Grandmother and the remaining four children when they arrived in the fall, by train to Vermilion, by wagon to Hopkins Ferry, and home. The two older ones, who were working in Ontario, came later.

And here the family lived, for quite some time, until the children, grown, moved out to their own homes. There, in her home, my grandmother died, on Christmas Day of 1917. Two of their sons went off to World War I, both returned, but one, injured, found a farm life too difficult, so went off to city life. The other, my Uncle Bert, now 95, lives in Langley, B.C.

Grandfather was not a farmer, but rather a gardener; he was not a minister, but rather a missionary. In his missionary years, he was not qualified to perform marriages, but did do funerals. On the last page of his little faded book, a notation: "Millard Heistland, five miles South East of Elk Point; Died. Age 15 years, 11 months. Cause of Death, Peritonitis; Attended by Dr. Charlibois of St. Paul. Buried by John Hobden, Missionary, the 10th day of November, 1912."

BICENTENNIAL

Guy Fawkes Day - final bicentennial event

An old custom, commemorating the failure of a plot to blow up the British parliament back in 1605, will come to Fort George - Buckingham House this weekend, when the community is invited to join in the traditional celebration of Guy Fawkes Day at the Forts as the final event of the Bicentennial year.

The tradition of building a bonfire and burning an effigy of British traitor Guy Fawkes each year on November 6 came to Canada with the men of the Hudson's Bay Company, who celebrated the event annually at their fur trade forts.

This year, the event will be held on Saturday, November 7, following a one day orientation teering workshop which goes from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. A bonfire will be burning from 4 to 7 p.m., and the Friends of the Fort will be serving up hot dogs at a small charge, along with hot chocolate courtesy of Historic Sites.

A special guest will be Dr. Bruce Haig of the University of Lethbridge, who will be on hand to present a book of sketches by children on the fur trade era, and Peter Fidler in particular. He would like to see as many of the local descendants as possible, as the date marks the 200th anniversary of the departure of Fidler from Buckingham House for his explorations of southern Alberta.

If you have any music tapes with jigging, square dancing, or native music that could contribute to the spirit of the occasion, please bring them along.

Come out to the forts and help to revive this old tradition dating back to "gunpowder, treason and plot" in the days of King James I.

ATTENTION: ALL SCOUTS, GUIDES, RANGERS AND PATHFINDERS!! OUTDOOR ENTHUSIASTS!!!

The Compass and Map Making Workshop goes from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Saturday, November 7. Registration deadline is November 6. Come out and learn how to find your way around in the great outdoors by using a compass.

WHAT'S NEWS AT THE LIBRARY?

This is Young Alberta Book Festival / Canadian Children's Book Festival Week. In honor of the occasion, the Elk Point Public Library in conjunction with the Northern Lights Library System, is sponsoring Mary Woodbury, Edmonton author, for an author reading at F.G. Miller

Junior High School on November 5. Mary Woodbury has written two books for young people, Letting Go and Where In The World Is Jenny Parker?

New Books

Promise You'll Take Care

Of My Daughter by Ben Wicks - The author reveals the story of Canada's war brides in the Second World War. He tells of the struggles and triumphs of these amazing women. Readers will be left in awe of the courage of Canada's war brides.

For the science fiction buffs we have the following books:

In Dark And Hungry God Arises by the master storyteller Stephen R. Donaldson, nothing is as it seems. As schemes unravel to reveal yet deep schemes, the lives of Morn, Nick and Angus, may all be forfeit as pawns in the titanic game played out between Warden Dios, dedicated director of the UMC Police, and the Dragon, greed driven ruler of the UMC.

In the book Summertime by Charles Sheffield, it was just before Summertime, the time when the twin planets, Opal and Quake, would orbit closest to their sun. It would subject both, but Quake in particular, to vast tidal forces that happened only every 350,000 years.

In the afterglow of a clean triumph, her widely celebrated, Pulitzer Prize winning bestseller Beloved, Tony Morrison moves to even higher ground. This, her eagerly awaited new novel, Jazz, is spellbinding for the haunting passion of its profound love story.

Marian Wright Edelman has written a book deeply rooted in what we once knew, but seem as a nation to have forgotten: that service to others is simply the rent we pay for living. The Measure Of Our Success is a book to turn lives around: a compassionate message for parents trying to raise moral children, a tough and searching book that ought to be required reading for every young person. Highly recommended by Ann Landers.

Happy Haunting At The Library

A gaggle of giggling goblins and gremlins enjoyed Friday's Storytime Halloween Party, which included a finger play led by the Library's Bookalo, a friendly pirate and a kind witch.

Sask-Alta league starts up

Faye Smith

The representatives of the six teams in the Sask-Alta Hockey League met Sunday in Kitscoty. A new schedule was drawn up. The six participating teams are the same as last year: Neilburg, Paradise Valley, Kitscoty, Marwayne, Dewberry and Elk Point. The president of the league is Neil Lamb with Clarence Goldsmith the vice president. Norma Hryciuk is the secretary and Dave Hutchinson is the statistician.

There will be 20 regular league games followed by a 10 game round robin playoff. The first place team will be awarded 3 points for finishing first, second place 2 points, third and fourth with one point awarded. The fifth and sixth place teams will get no points.

The first league home game for the Elk Point Elks will be on Sunday, November 15 at 2 p.m. against Marwayne. A full schedule will follow next week. See you at the hockey game!

Thunder loses season opener

Elk Point Thunder hosted the Lloydminster "A" Blazers on Friday night and lost their season opener 8-2. The team didn't have much time to prepare for the game and had only two practices under their belt while this was Lloydminster's seventh game. After twenty minutes it was 2-1 for the Blazers and it could have been more had it not been for some outstanding goaltending from Roger deMoissac. The Blazers went ahead 3-1 early in the second period and it was close until the last five minutes when there was a four goal outburst, and it was 7-2 after two periods. Goal scorers for Elk Point were Danny Flett and Tyson Stafford. Next home game is this Friday at 8 p.m. when Kitscoty will be in town.
